NINTH INNING FLURRY LADSGIANTS ON TOP

Reds Have a Two Run Lead, but Meet With Their Third Defeat Here.

TWO BIG BATS FACTORS

Robertson and Meyers Wild Them Effectively When Hits Mean Runs.

The Giants made it three straight from the Cincinnati, beating them yesterday and sending them away empty handed so far as New York is concerned. The Cardinals made a strong finish in Boston, won the game and passed the Pirates, who took a drubbing in Brooklyn.

The Reds came nearer to winning a ball game from the Giants at the Polo Grounds yesterday than they have in either of the first two games of the series. They were ahead for four innings, tied with the champions for four and beaten in the ninth. The score was 3 to 2, the climactic run being batted into the New York trophy room by Dave Robertson in the ninth. In that natural and unassuming way he has, Dave triumphed the ball with a ball and a run in from the field. Leon Ames doubled up against the Giants. He tried it again after losing the first game. He went better this time, but was out of the game in the fifth. Ames was many plaudits from behind the visiting team's bench for Matty, who he pitched the sounder and more business-like game. He kept the Reds' bats evenly scattered. They were seven over such a wide space of ground that they couldn't have any crop if Fletcher hadn't made a couple of misplays behind Matty.

As to Ames the Giants either were not hitting him at all or hitting him in jumps. They flushed a covey of hits in the fifth for two runs, and in the ninth they stung him for a brief volley of hits after he had given the ball to the pitcher in the game. Pitching capital ball in seven innings Ames let down just enough in the other two to lose. Matty's work was more consistent, was of shutoff quality without a break, and the feeling of the Giants grew truer and truer as the third inning.

Individually Herzog was very much in the game with a steal, a run, two hits and a volume of dandy fielding. The Red Rover covered a lot of acreage, but aside from him the fight was not vigorously conducted on the Cincinnati side. Robertson was a corker in the fifth of the New York scoring upheavals. Chief Meyers was thereabouts and Stock and Merkle not a great distance removed from the vortex of the dual battling rally, both sections of which were sharp and sweet.

Herzog was safe on Fletcher's fumble in the first inning and stole second with two out. That steal meant a run for him, for he scored on Miller's fly to left. In making a broad reach for the second mark on the throw in Miller was thrown out, the ball passing from Burns to Meyers. The Cardinals were double play without a break, and the feeling of the Giants grew truer and truer as the third inning.

Clark was safe in the third on a wide throw by Fletcher, which Matty did well to knock down. The next two were runners dissolved on upflits to the blanketed firmament, but Herzog hit nearer to the value of a run, a safety over second for which he was caught stealing. The next past Bescher for a triple and scored. Clark, then Merkle threw himself to the ground and made a good play on Groh's high flying hopper along the foul line. Matty slipped on Niehoff's fly to the fourth and Niehoff had a base hit, but he tried to steal and was thrown out by Strong-arm-heart Meyers.

With one out and the Cardinals made the second hit off Ames and incited a rally. Stock whipped one past Niehoff. Meyers doubled to Bateland and brought in both conferees. The situation still had its pleasing potentialities, but these drifted into the limbo of lost opportunities when Matty struck out and Herzog blotted out Bescher with a fine scoop and throw.

Herzog on a single and a sacrifice on second with two out in the sixth when Stock made a home run. The Cardinals sounded the ball high off Matty's glove. Stock dashed in, took the ball when it came down and had to get it away a shade quicker than instantly to nail Niehoff, which he did, but off a run. The expert fielding of Fletcher and Merkle disposed of the red ringed Sox in the seventh. Those two offlied at the passing of all three batters.

Rotherby by Stock in the eighth Meyers gently and gracefully muffed Ames's fly, and Ames was the first man up. He doubled off first when Herzog lined to Robertson, Moran having filed to Burns in the meantime. Doc Merkle scratched a hit in the ninth with one out, but his running delegate, Thier, was caught stealing.

After Burns had popped to Herzog in the ninth Fletcher's judicious waiting worked Ames for four balls. "You're due, Doyle," exclaimed McGraw, and Proud

HUMMEL IS BIG HELP IN BROOKLYN VICTORY

His Timely Clouting Is Chief Factor in Game Won From Pirates.

WAGNER'S ONLY HIT A BUNT

Adds to His Large Collection by Tapping Ball in His Gentlest Manner.

Brooklyn turned over a new leaf with the new week and won a ball game from the Pirates at Ebbets Field yesterday afternoon by a score of 5 to 1. It is rumored that John Hummel and family had a private box for the fireworks at the ball grounds last night. He deserved half a dozen boxes.

John was very much the whole wheat in the left pasture, he drove Bob Harmon to cover with two timely doubles in the first three innings. These extra base knocks furnished four runs for Brooklyn, the margin by which Robinson's men established claim to the contest. In riding the pastime of the deliberate Harmon, Honest John helped to get the patrons home before it was time to open the circus gate.

Harmon didn't seem to have even the proverbial prayer. A fine break in the luck saved him from utter annihilation in the first inning, when Hummel was doubled off second as a result of Smith's terrific line that would have been good for a pinch hit ninety-nine times in a hundred. Harmon instinctively threw up his hands for protection and the ball stuck in it. Another double play helped him in the second.

Pfeffer was never hard pressed after the first inning. Outside of the seventh inning, when he was hit by a line drive, the big fellow was in trouble but twice. O'Mara's error on Viox and a double by Konetchy in the fourth put runners on first and second, but only to lighten their load. Konetchy's error on Viox and a throw that took a hit from Mitchell and retired the side. Viox walked and Wagner bunt in the sixth, but this time also two were out. Either Konetchy or Kauthehr might have made a more interesting afternoon had he started against Pfeffer. Conzelmann gave way to Ham Hyatt in the seventh when a pinch hit by Viox sent him to the hospital and saved his team from being blanked.

Harmon cracked in the first inning after he had fanned O'Mara. Daubert scratched an infield single and Dalton batted for him in the second. In this delightful spot John Hummel uncovered his first double, which Carey slightly manhandled, allowing Daubert and Dalton to score easily. On a hit and run play Ham Hyatt scored on a sacrifice fly to deep center. Pfeffer singled in the fourth off Conzelmann, and Dalton doubled in the fifth, but each time two were out, and both were left Smith opened the sixth with a fly to center. The night's Hans Wagner perfectly with a pretty bunt to the box. Cutshaw beat his bunt to the same spot, putting Smith on third and in position to profit by Pfeffer's sacrifice fly to deep center.

Mitchell got the first hit off Pfeffer with two out in the second. Kelly forced him. In the fourth O'Mara bobbled on Viox, giving the little second baseman a life, with a fly to center. ## AMERICAN LEAGUE.

The first Western trip of the New York Americans ended yesterday with nothing doing for the New Yorks. It rained in Cleveland, the Chancery losing three days out of five there and breaking even with the Naps. The Athletics shut out the Browns and drew further away from the Detroiters, who were beaten by Washington. The White Sox were too much for the Bostonians.

White Sox Win Another.

Make It 4 to 1 in Series Against Boston Red Sox.

Chicago, June 22.—The White Sox beat Boston 5 to 4 and made it four wins and a lone defeat in their series with the Red Sox. The Sox were victorious in the fourth, but couldn't win, as Benz, who followed, held them helpless, while the Chicago batters turned on Bedient and drove him from the mound. A little later they got to Johnson, the winning run.

PLAN HAS ORGANIZED BASEBALL UP A TREE

Pacific Coast Magnates Will Demand Draft Exemption in Event of New Major.

GARRY AND BARROW TALK

Both Refuse to Admit Any Big Change in Situation as Result of Confab.

Organized baseball appears to have freed itself in announcing the possibility of a third major league. Club owners of the Pacific coast circuit say they will demand the highest classification if draft exemption is given the two Class AA associations. Chivington and his American Association colleagues are said to be opposed to breaking that body apart. Reports from Ban Johnson in Chicago and Barney Dreyfuss in Pittsburgh intimate that the latest scheme to kill the Federal through overhauling the public may not be put into effect.

Johnson's change of heart is very difficult to understand by those who talked with him Sunday in this city. At that time the American League president declared that the third major was as good as started already.

"It will be in the field all in good time," said Ban. "But do not ask me for any of the particulars. The matter is in the hands of Ed Barrow at present. He will carry on the diplomatic negotiations."

In his capacity of plenipotentiary extraordinary Barrow was closeted for several hours with August Hermann, chairman of the National Commission, at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon. Garry, too, referred all inquiries to the head of the International League.

"I cannot say that there will be a third major league," said Garry. "So far as I know the matter is just where it stood Saturday morning. The National Commission did not make any decision. By Henderson has the matter under advisement, as was decided two days ago. So far as I know there is absolutely no reason for any one to say whether there shall or shall not be a third major league. To my mind the matter is still in the air. It has been developed within the past forty-eight hours."

Barrow was about as communicative as the Sphinx after he quitted his audience with the National Commission chairman. "I have nothing definite to report," he said. "Mr. Hermann and myself talked of a number of matters informally. Absolutely no hitch has developed among the various interests of organized baseball. I think the third major league is much a certainty as when it was decided upon Saturday. The National Commission did not take final action at that time. But so far as I know there has been no change of opinion on the part of any of the National Commission members or the major league club presidents."

In his very limited remarks President Barrow asserted very strongly that he believed a third major league would be the field at the beginning of 1915 if the Federal continued the war that long. Barrow would not discuss the personnel of the Eastern division, but he declared that he believed a third major league would be made up entirely from International League teams.

"I do not care to think about it just now, let alone discuss the matter," said he. "The Eastern division has been organized for some time, but not enough to justify unnecessary troubles that might arise through premature talk."

Barrow said he had given any thought as yet to the reconstruction of the International League, which will be necessary if four of his franchises are drafted to form a third major.

Hal Chase and Heine Schulz disappeared from Chicago after playing one game with the Buffalo Federals. It is believed the two American League defectors are yet to dodge service in injunction proceedings, which have been started by Charles Comiskey and Frank Farrell. The president of the New York Americans went to the Windy City Saturday evening to see the Chicago Sox. Comiskey and Farrell both declared in Chicago yesterday that Chase and Schulz would have a busy time keeping away from the minions of the law. Each man has been decided to bring action at once in every city in the Federal League circuit to stop these malcontents from playing with the Buffalo club.

While nursing his broken right hand at his Detroit home, Ty Cobb is kept busy denying reports that he has decided to jump to the Federal League. Ty broke his hand in a fight with a butcher last Saturday night. Cobb said in Detroit that he would not run away from the wilds of northern Michigan for a couple of weeks to escape the publicity that has resulted from his most recent escapade. He said that he would be back in the Detroit lineup as soon as he recovered from his injury. He would stick to organized baseball so long as he remained in the game. He said he would like to retire permanently, or at least to leave Detroit, but that he had decided not to do either of these things.

The New York Americans return tomorrow from a somewhat disappointing Western trip to the Boston Red Sox at the Polo Grounds. The homecoming of Chance and his followers will be celebrated in a double header against Boston. The first game will be called at 2 o'clock.

COURT ENJOINS MARSANS.

Ten Day Notice Works Only in War Outlined in Contract.

August Hermann, chairman of the National Commission, received a telegram last night telling him that he had scored a decisive victory for organized baseball in his suit against Outfielder Marsans in the Federal Court at St. Paul, Minn. The suit had declared Marsans had been contracted with the National League, including the reserve clause and the ten day notice clause. Marsans' victory, however, was a telegram, naturally being conveyed in a telegram, naturally was condensed. But according to the commission chairman, who was seen at the Waldorf, the Federal Court decided that a club owner had the right to terminate a player's contract upon ten days' notice, while the player had no such right because such privilege was not incorporated into the terms of agreement.

This decision is the most important of all our legal victories," said Mr. Hermann. "Organized baseball has won every case against the Federal League. The independents now must feel convinced that the contracts of organized baseball are inviolable."

"I think that this latest decision in the Marsans case will bring players to their senses. The National Commission has decided to bring action against every player who violates the contract obligations. All will be prevented by law from appearing with Federal League clubs. Gilmore and his associates will not care to burden themselves with a lot of high salaried men who cannot take part in games. I think the players will hesitate about taking the law into their own hands now that it has been proved that there is no injustice in the release clause privilege of the employer."

TIP TOPS BEATEN TWICE.

Lost Both Games of a Double Header at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 22.—The Hoosier Federals barely nosed out ahead in two games against the Brooklyn Federals in a double header this afternoon. They won the first, 5 to 4, and the second, 4 to 2. The Hoosiers' record is now 4 to 2. They straight victories by the day's work. Henderson, who came to make his debut in the Hoosier box in the first game, pitched well. Laftie pitched a creditable game for the visitors. Kauff stole home in the third inning, much to the discomfiture of Pinner, who was pitching for Brooklyn. Good hitting accounted for the other Indianapolis runs. Mullin was the winning pitcher.

FOUR VARSITY CREWS ROW IN TIME TRIALS

All But Columbia and Syracuse Indulge in Tryouts Over Four Mile Course.

JIM WRAY VISITS CAMPS

Says That Harvard Crew Took Instructions From Alumni in Big Race.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 22.—Week water conditions the best in over a week. The trials were the rule rather than the exception today with the crews gathered here for the regatta on Friday. Pennsylvania, Cornell, Washington and Wisconsin rowed four miles under the watchful eye of the regular course.

Several unofficial watches caught Cornell's Coast champions in 26 minutes 44 seconds, but the Washington coach told The Sun correspondent that the official time was 20 minutes 42 seconds. Penn went over the course a quarter of an hour after Washington and Coach Nickalls timed his Quaker varsity in 20 minutes 22 seconds. The tide was out, so that the trials were rowed on practically slack water.

Coach Nickalls had his junior pace the varsity for the first two miles and then the freshman took up the task. The varsity defeated its dual opponent in 20 minutes 42 seconds. The English riggers
